- A: Dr. Cooksy is a wonderful teacher, but I don't believe in 20 minute tests that are designed to be impossible to finish. I think that he tested our stress levels more than our knowledge of chemistry. That being said, he is a great teacher.
- A: Dr. Cooksy is by far one of the best instructors I've ever had. Humble, approachable, and a master of his craft. The man is a workaholic, and did everything within his power to ensure our success. I sincerely hope to work more with him in the future.

- A: Incredibly smart professor. All of the material was very challenging and he gave exams often. If a student fell behind in this class, they would have no chance to catch up. One of the hardest classes I have taken at SDSU. Great teacher though.
- A: no
- A: Best professor in sdsu!
- A: The hardest class I have ever taken. The 10 min quizzes and 20 min exams was very difficult to do.
- A: Cooksy is a good professor. I just really don't like the class. No matter how much I studied or tried to understand the subject matter, it did me no good. Taking a twenty minute test doesn't allow you the time to try and understand the question. and even with it open notes it doesn't help, because half the time you don't understand the Q right away. BUT you can't spend time thinking on it. all you worry about is how much time did you waste trying to understand what he's asking.
- A: Six 20 minute tests are not conducive to my specific learning needs. I do not function very well under that extreme pressure and constant rigor. I feel that 4 tests would have been a lot better than 6 tests. If I just had more time to work with the material, I feel like I would have done a lot better. Instead, the reality of it all, I had to cram material that I barely was able to learn in class due to the very superficial form of teaching. Some students may function very well, but not me. Sorry
- A: Dr. Cooksy is probably one of the smartest professors at this university and I feel very proud that I was able to take one of his classes, which is arguably one of the toughest courses of all.
- A: Thanks Cooksy, Jivedonkerton!
- A: Dr. Cooksy did a great job reaching out his students and going beyond in order to meet their needs. I appreciated how much time outside of class he made himself available for us.
